

AFTER THREE DAYS

On the Witness Stand, Dr. Hissom Concludes His Testimony.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL MONDAY.

The Use of Objectionable Phrases in Letters and Otherwise a Theme of Argument in the Closing of the Plaintiff's Testimony in His Bill of Expenses in the Luncy Case—Denied Flourishing a Gun at His Father.

The testimony of Dr. S. K. Hissom in his damage suit against his father, J. H. Hissom, concluded yesterday at 4:30 p. m. He went on the stand Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. Little material testimony followed after the doctor's conclusion, and the jury was dismissed until Monday morning.

Not much was brought out in the doctor's cross-examination that wasn't touched on before. He said that his father once waited until 2 o'clock in the morning to shoot Whitten Hissom, brother of the doctor, and did shoot at him, but missed. The witness said he never drew a revolver on his father. Speaking of his father's actions, witness said his father was attentive to other women, which made his mother mad, so on one occasion she fired with a gun, and that night his father, in their room, cursed her, and put his hand over her mouth and bit her.

Continuing, the witness said his father excused his conduct on the ground that it was caused by wine. The witness acknowledged getting $1,000 from his father on December 13, last year, but denied that the question of dividing his father's estate was discussed in his presence, and he denied also the insinuation that he was mixed up with a German woman in a suspicious affair on a steamer returning from Germany; also that he had ever spoken of his mother's conduct.

The witness was asked about drawing a gun on a man named Wilson, on Twelfth street, but the objection to his answering was sustained. Next the doctor was questioned about talking with Anna Sandrock regarding insurance, and he said that Anna Sandrock had advised him to poison her mother so as to get $5,000 insurance.

Mr. Howard then claimed the right to show incidents in which the plaintiff figured in at the Spencer asylum, and the court, which took an opposite view, granted defendant's counsel the privilege of submitting authorities on the disputed point this morning. Mr. Hubbard will also submit memoranda on the other side.

The witness was asked as to a conversation with D. A. Hissom, brother of J. H. Hissom, in Ohio, after his release from Spencer, and he denied telling his uncle that his father was not to blame for his arrest, and that he was the victim of a conspiracy by other relatives. This concluded Mr. Hubbard's cross-examination.

To Mr. Smith, the doctor said: "Uncle Dave always advised me to settle the matter out of court, as it was an awful thing for father and son to fight each other in court, and he said he would tell all he knew if he had to go on the stand." The witness held several conversations with his uncle, and he thought his uncle had seen his father just before these occurrences.

The witness produced a copy of the subpoena served on him to testify in this case, by Deputy J. B. Lyle. Mr. Smith read the subpoena to the jury. The witness was summoned by the defendant, which was given on by inference, at least, as tending to show that the defendant, J. H. Hissom, considered his son to be sane. This appearance of witness was set for December 9, 1899, when it was suggested by J. R. Hissom's attorneys that the doctor was a non-resident of the state. The order of the court dismissing the suggestion was read by Mr. Smith.

Then Mr. Smith sought to draw out from the witness an account of the stabbing of David Yeager by his father, which the witness volunteered in his cross-examination. Mr. Smith wanted to show that by reason of the stabbing affair that the son lived in mortal terror of his father. After some discussion, the court sustained objection to the question. There was another debate as to the admissibility of further inquiry relative to the Jennie McFadden letters, written by the elder Hissom and later stolen from the son's trunk. The point in question seemed to be whether the matter had not been considered in the direct examination. The objection by defendant's counsel was sustained. Objection was sustained also to further threatening out of the McNichol visit; to the son's allegation that his father broke his mother's arm with a poker, and to other abuses previously gone over.

A letter, known as the "birthday letter," written from Germany to his mother, the witness explained was in answer to one sent by his mother, which, with others, he said, had been taken from his trunk by his father. His mother's letter contained allusions which he repeated in his reply. In his mother's envelope was another letter, written by his sisters, Lucy and Marie. He explained the use of the objectionable term by saying that it was as common in the Hissom family circle as an over.

A COLUMN OF MEDICINE TWO THOUSAND FEET HIGH.

A United States Senator's Letter.

UNITED STATES SENATOR McENERY, OF LOUISIANA.

Hon. S. D. McENERY, United States Senator from Louisiana, says the following in regard to Per-na:

Per-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio: Gentlemen—Per-na is an excellent tonic. I have used it sufficiently to say that I believe it to be all that you claim for it.

Very Respectfully, S. D. McENERY.

Three Car Loads Daily.

To meet the demand for Per-na as a stomach remedy during the fall and winter three car-loads per day is required. Few people comprehend what an immense amount of Per-na this is. It is eighteen hundred dozen bottles of Per-na, each bottle containing twenty ounces. This amounts to twenty-one thousand six hundred bottles, or four hundred and thirty-two thousand ounces, or three million four hundred and fifty-six thousand ounces.

Three car-loads of bottles of Per-na are placed and to end in a single row would extend over four and a half miles; arranged in a column one foot square they would make a column nearly two thousand feet high, four times as high as the highest cathedral tower in Europe, and nearly twice as high as the famous Eiffel tower. Remember, this amount of Per-na is shipped daily to meet the enormous demand for this wonderful cathartic remedy.

The facilities of the Per-na Medicine Company are taxed to their utmost to keep up this remarkable output, week after week, and month after month. This ever-increasing stream of Per-na finds its way into thousands of homes in every state in the Union.

Per-na is as effective to cure the winter catarrh of New England as the summer catarrh of Texas. Per-na is an absolute necessity for the climatic diseases of summer and winter. It is the safe-guard of the home amid the blizzards of Montana, and the ever-present, never-failing remedy for the ills that beset the household in the sweltering heat of Florida.

Mrs. Maggie Turner, Holly Springs, Miss., writes: "About fifteen years ago I was taken with catarrh of the head. I tried several doctors and all the patent medicines I could hear recommended for catarrh. I spent several hundred dollars and found no relief. I was gradually growing worse and was given up to die. Last September Per-na was recommended to me by a friend and I began to take it. I had no faith in anything any more, as I was not able to sit up, and was a mere skeleton. After I had taken one bottle of Per-na I began to improve. I am now taking the sixth
